Boston. May. 21st 1872.

My Dear Madam.

I am to publish a volume, giving the testimony of ancients and moderns, about health.

I have already collected the testimony of thirty ancient statesmen, poets, physicians, and others, which I am sure will prove deeply interesting to you.

I am now collecting the opinions of eminent moderns. The last one received and just put into stereotype I send with this note, as a hint of the character of some of the contributions.

that you have an opportunity to indicate your wishes in regard to their circulation.

Yours very truly

Dio Lewis.
